Rich, I can take care of numbers 1 & 2 under Support Assets. What is a good number for Computers would $20,000 be a good number to move from Work Equipment to General Computers?

Also I can do Number 2 on the construction schedule. I'm not sure why they make the form the way they do and then want it differently, but I can just use the numbers you have on the CAPEX to allocate Engineering across the items. Is that correct Teresa?

Everything else you will need to address Rich as it relates to the Financials. Please let me know that you concur.

Thanks!

Hello!

I hope everyone has enjoyed a little down time since the loan app was shipped on 6/20. Due to the reorg, I don't think the operations review will begin until sometime next week. However, the engineering portion has already been assigned and the questions have started to flow.

Support Assets (Tab 4)

1. In the narrative, we discuss upgrading computers to support FTTH. However, all the 'support assets' funding on the 494 went to vehicles & work eqpt. None was separated out for computers. This will need to be changed on all related documents; including depreciation and Proposed Construction Budget (Buildout) Worksheet.
2. Also, on the form 494, we have Vehicles $100,000 and Work Equip $150,000. On the supporting sheet that follows (see attached 494) we have those numbers reversed. At least one of these will be different after splitting out the computers. Plus, either the final amounts must match on the 494 and supporting documents.

Construction Schedule (Tab 5)

1. Set Top Boxes being purchased with General Funds listed on the 495's totals $485,400. On the Proposed Construction Budget (Buildout) Worksheet, we had $485,200 with $121,300 in yrs 2 – 5. I have changed it to match the 495's, making yrs 2 – 5 $121,350 each. Please confirm this is what it should be.
2. Also, on the Proposed Construction Budget (Buildout) Worksheet, the reviewing engineer wants to see the engineering spread among the categories to which it applies in the years it will be incurred. For example, engineering in yr 1 is $200,000 for staking. He wants to see $200,000 on line 13, Yr 1 RUS Funds column. This will need to be done for all engineering. This means the totals of all columns will be $20,685,400 = everything except Refi
3. While we are at it, go ahead and get me the breakdown of what part of the COE & Electronic retirement ($1,368,709) belongs to COE & what part belongs to Electronics.

4. For the yearly cash flow sheet, please create a row at the bottom showing the additions of set top boxes from general funds in years 2-5. This will make the Grant Total of the Sheet $25,485,400 ($25,000,000 + $485,400) = Grand Total of Everything, Including Refi
5. He also wants to see the set top boxes added to the CAPEX Sheet, in yrs 2 – 5 and designated as “purchased with general funds” - This will make this page total $20,685,400 ($20,200,000 + $485,400) = Everything except Refi

Schedule S-2 (Tab 12) Deployment & Depreciation

1. Line 2 on Schedule S-2, “Plant Additions from this Loan”, must match the info on the CAPEX, Cash Flow and Proposed Construction Budget (Buildout) Worksheet. This does not only refer to regulated plant – this is all plant. It appears year 2014 is correct.
2. Line 5 on Schedule S-2, “Plant Additions from General Funds”, should reflect the set top box purchases in yrs 2015 – 2018.

Rich & Bruce, I would like the two of you to discuss among yourselves what each of the above changes will ultimately affect.

Also, I want to mention, if I haven't already, it appears the principal payback on new debt was calculated as beginning with the first draw of loan funds. However, the principal repay does not begin until 2 years after the first draw of loan funds. (Interest does begin accruing and being due once funds are drawn down.) At this point, DC has not requested any action on our part due to this assumption. They will recalculate – and the recalculation should make the loan even more feasible with less debt servicing in the early years of the forecast period.

Please let me know if I need to do a better job of explaining what DC has asked for. I am off work on Friday, June 27 and will be traveling on business next week. I'm hoping I can review anything you send me each evening and keep things moving.

Thanks,
